CBK - case study

03-01-2008

CBK – The TPARC report for February 20 of 2007 showed CBK as "performing poorly" and the chart indicated that a Performance Alarm had turned on. The downtrend has persisted and the stock has lost almost 50% of its value over the past year. The stock has consistently remained below the 45-degree Bearish Resistance Line ever since. There are no signs of a reversal at the present time.
