

Technical Perspectives on Analyst's Rating Changes

FHN case study
01-27-2008

FHN – This stock was already locked into serious downtrend at the time of the TPARC report in September of 2005. That downtrend persisted without interruption up until today. It remained below the 45-degree bearish resistance line throughout the entire time period. The stock lost over 60% of its value during this decline.
