

Technical Perspectives on Analyst's Rating Changes

ORCL case study

02-17-2008

ORCL – The TPARC report for June 29, 2006 indicated that ORCL was very close to an upside breakout and that the stock had made a successful test of support. Shortly thereafter, the stock broke out to the upside and has performed well. The stock has gained about a third from the level shown on the TPARC report. It remains above the 45-degree Bullish Support Line.

W. Clay Allen CFA

