

Technical Perspectives on Analyst's Rating Changes

SSCC - case study
01-17-2009

SSCC – The TPARC report for December 6, 2005 showed that SSCC was locked into a serious downtrend at that time and that was over three years ago. This stock did, in fact, continue to disappoint investors as it has lost literally all of its value over the past few years. The stock did experience one attempt to rally but it only made it back up to the 45-degree bearish Resistance Line. It is amazing that this stock continued to trade actively all the way down in the face of such a serious downtrend. So much for bargain hunting!

W. Clay Allen CFA

Chart from the TPARC report for 12/06/2005

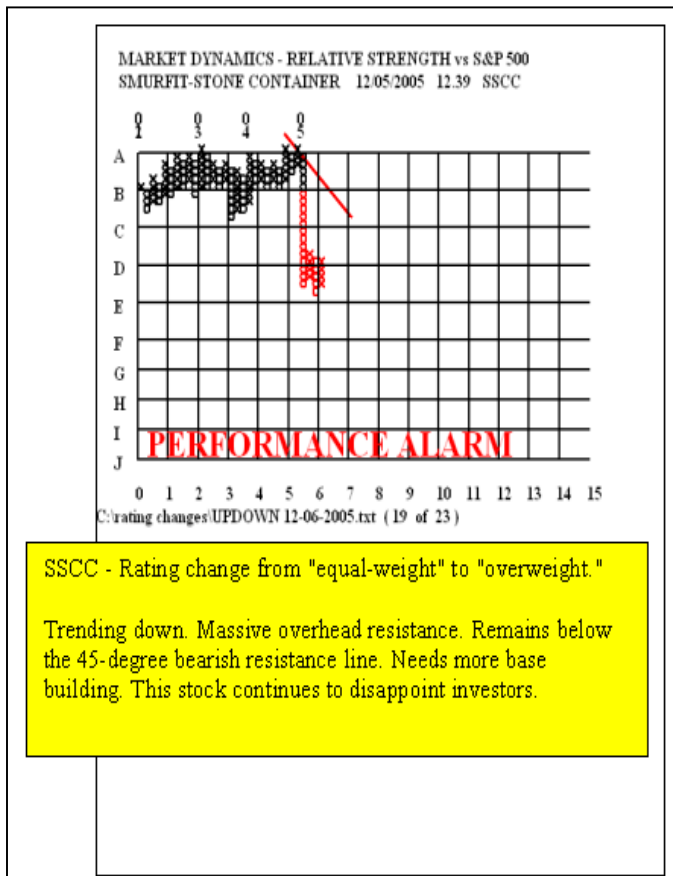

Chart for 12/16/2009

